By MELLIFICIA. Wednesday, May 27, 1914.

THIS is indeed the luxurious age. The beautiful women of the courts of the great Louis of France never dreamed of some of the luxuries of 1914. They had the brocades, the velvets and wonderful jewels of the present time, and fans and furs, perhaps, but I doubt if they thought of the delicate and dainty silk lingerie and scores of dainty accessories to milady's wardrobe.

The newest novelty to me is the velvet "beauty spot," or mouche, I believe the French call it.

I read about them in Vanity Fair and Vogue, not dreaming that they might be had in the Omaha shops, but they are here.

The French beauties who originated these had to cut the beauty spots out of black courtplaster in various designs, and wore them coquetishly under one eye, or perhaps on one side of the chin, or on the cheek. But now the "beauty spots" come in black velvet or bronze satin, about twenty-five in a box, all cut in dainty designs.

Egan-Wood Engagement.

Announcement was made at an informal family dinner in Moline, Ill., of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Julia Wood, daughter of Mrs. B. C. Wood, and John J. Egan of Omaha. Table decorations were in pink and blue. They imported baskets in the dainty shades were filled with candy and nuts and a central basket held pink snapdragons. The wedding date is not set, but will be some time in the fall. Miss Wood is one of Moline's attractive young women and was graduated with the class of 1907 from the high school. She is a charter member of both the Zeta Phi Beta sorority and of the Between Times circle of King's Daughters. Mr. Egan attended the University of Nebraska and is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He is the son of H. P. Egan of Nebraska City and grandnephew of Patrick Egan of New York City, who was associated with Thomas Brennan, recently deceased, of Omaha in Irish Land League troubles. Mr. Egan moved to Des Moines recently to take charge of Joseph R. Lehmer's interests at that place and was formerly sales manager of that firm in Omaha.

Series of Entertainments.

Mrs. William J. Brown entertained at her home Tuesday. Cards were played in the afternoon, following which an informal 7 o'clock dinner was served. A musicale was given in the evening. The decorations were carried out in spring flowers and American beauty roses. Prizes for the card games were won by Mrs. A. G. Ferrell, Miss Gertrude Austin, Mrs. Frances Jacobs and Mrs. Rudolph Beal. Those present were Miss Gertrude Austin and Miss Reba Welch of Lincoln and Mesdames Thomas Cox, A. G. Another large breakfast party was given by Mr. John C. Wharton, Omaha postmaster. This party consisted of thirty employees of the Omaha postoffice. Other May breakfast parties were given as follows: Evan Norton, eight guests; Emma Johnston, five guests; Miss Doyis, six guests; Miss Brewster, five guests; Miss Bayne, four guests; Miss Woolley, six guests; Alice Trudo, eight guests; Ida Sharp, seven guests; Mrs. Worthy, five guests; Miss Bowen, four guests; Miss Graberson, four guests.

There was also a party of thirteen employees of the Peters Trust company and a party of fifteen from the Woodmen Circle. A party of eleven was entertained by Mr. Thomas of the Brandeis stores. One of the prettiest parties was that given in honor of Miss Blanche Waite, who is one of the summer brides. Miss Waite is Baptist missionary at South Omaha and is to marry Mr. S. M. Hobbie in the near future.

This table was beautifully decorated with pink and white bride's roses and orange blossoms.

A Much Abused Term

Dry Cleaning is one of the most abused terms in the English language and one of the least understood. Dry Cleaning is not dry cleaning at all in the sense that your clothes are cleaned dry, for they are not. "Gasolined" would be a much more appropriate term because in Dry Cleaning your clothes really are washed in gasoline. The same as having your linen laundered means having your clothes washed. It's the way it is done that makes for Quality and builds reputation. For nearly seventeen years the Pantorium has been building a reputation for Quality, and it is here you find Dry Cleaning and everything pertaining to the Cleaning and Dyeing business brought to the highest state of perfection. We solicit the business of those who want the Best.
